

RITUAL BITCHUAL

do you think that god is really watching?

no.

in fact, i think
the light inside us all IS god.

and it's our
duty as human beings
to douse it.

(the blood
seered my hands
like the fires
of love)

i don't believe you

(i saw her
corpse
lying there,

so i packed
my things

and headed for tulsa)

(the city didn't offer much, but a city that offered anything was enough.)

on this bench at 2:17AM on thursday, i gave a blowjob to this girl with a tattoo of a seagull flock across her stomach under the flourescent light of this mayfly-infested street lamp.

something about the whirring caused my eyeballs to fall out of my skull.

(i remember her horror and her offer to drive me to the ER but i remember her horror more.)

(so i darted
for the lake,

all the while
shoving my retinas back in
their sockets,

i screamed
into the murky
birdshit water

and it was there
where i saw her again.

and it was there where she saw me.)
